The other is a hard campaign with party lines drawn so tight that none but the most stubborn bolter can stand the tension. On the first of these chances depends their highest hope. In the history of the democratic party they find much to encourage such an expectation, for judged by the experiments of the past the chances are largely in favor of a mistake in the selection of candidates or the management of the campaign. With well considered democratic action their main prop is knocked out, and they must fall back on the plan of recalling the bolters and independents. It is easy to notice the change in the tone of talk among republicans in congress. Their newspaper organs keep up the air of confidence bravely, but the leaders can not conceal their anxiety. One effect of this depression is to put them more desperately at work. The most vigorous campaign ever seen in this country may be expected from the defeat of Hicks Pashs to the fall of Berber. They have in Blaine a man who cat cheer his followers in the face of defeat, while the magnificent discipline of the party which has many a time enabled it to rally under the most depressing circumstances will be put to its firmest and finest work. Therefore, while the set back to republican confidence is pleasing in one view of it, in another it is indicative of a determination to play the game for all it is worth. It is ominous of every species of skill and trickery by which the election can possibly be carried. A gloomy republican will do to watch.

THE CORRUPTION FUND.

The Republicans Preparing to Resort to the Old Method of Carrying the Country.

Washington, June 19.—[Special].—One mis-ion of the republican party has been to teach the use of money in politics. Dorsey's new wo dollar bills carried Indiana and elected two dollar bills carried Indiana and elected Garfield. Arthur culogised "soap" as the most potent weapon in political warfare. Jay flubbell was the most advanced tactician in this line and devised the famous death warrant circulars by which hundreds of thousands of dollars were wrang from government employes for the last congressional sampaign. It has become the fashion of late for republican leaders in congression deepy the use of money in elections and to denounce the good old assessment plan. Some of their have gone to the point of denying that such extortions were ever made, in the fashion of their points of denying that such extortions were ever made.

supreme court. The horde of officeholders is to be depended on for the bulk of the fund for this campaigu. The Blaine clubs which are being organized all over the country are to act as collecting secicities. Circulars are now being prepared at the republican head-quarters in Washington to be printed by the thousand and sent to every official urging him to special interest in the approaching campaign. These circulars will not be couched in the stern language of the Hubbell levy but will be so worded as to make the impression that it is best for the federal officeholders to "ante." Blaine's plan is to make a vigorous campaign in every state for the which can be cousidered doubtful, and into these states the corruption fund is to be pourmoned. The more doubtful the state the more money it will receive. With all the restrictions of the so called civil service, and with the additional legislation on the question of campaign assessments, it is impossible to preve the accumulation of a great fund to buy votes for the republican party. Its managers know how to get money and mean to try to elect Blaine and Logan by the same means.

Americus Recorder: Sunday moraing the town was again startled by the report that another house had been fired. In company with Dr. W. P. Burt, a Recorder man visited the house, which was the old Brake property, on Jefferson street, Burt, a Recorder man visited the house, which was the old Brake property, on Jefferson street, next door to Sam Stephens, the colored contractor. It seems that some time during the night one of the immates of the house awoke and heard Stephens's dog barking very furious. On arising and going to the window the form of a man could be distinctly seen in the road. The man turned and looked at the house and then moved on to the bridge, looking back again, and then striking out in a run for town. The smell of kerosene was noticed, nothing was thought of it. In the morning it was found that kerosene had been thrown on the boarding of the house and a match touched to it. The match was found on the ground. The weatherboarding was burned to a crisp at the bottom, and was charred nine boards high. The frequent ratius we have had lately, and the boards being old prevented them from burning, We understand the bottle which held the oil has been found. It is evident that something must be done to check the growth of incendiarism in this city.

There is no place that is held in greater rev There is no place that is held in greater reverence by our people than the silent resting places of the dead. It is true some of them may be in out of the way places, and seem neglected, yet there still lingers around these lonely mounds an affection that time does not efface. A seeming disregard for one of these country graveyards has deeply shocked the sensibilities of one of the county neighborhoods and the good people of that section feel indignant that the last resting place of those whom they loved in life has been desecrated by being turned into a cotton patch. The information comes to us that the atch. The information comes to us that the patch. The information comes to us that the graveyard has been ploughed up and a cotton crop planted where nothing but flowers should bloom. We further learn that the spot of ground was brought with a common fund and set aside as a public ourying ground for the immediate settler which it is located. Threats have made to destroy the crop unlawfully planted there and a feeling of indignation seems to prevail. We trust that the matter is not as bad as has been reported, and hardly believe that we have a citizen hardly believe that we have a citizen within the limits of our county who would wantonly trespass upon the rights of another, much less descerate the graves of deceased relatives and friends of his neighbors.

floor stupidly drunk, her head partly under the stove. She was pulled out and placed on a lounge. This woman was Mrs. James Hergeney, widow of a well-to-do wheel-wright, who died some time since. She was too drunk to give any information. In the upper room her sisser. Mrs. Goodhue, was found lying across the bed, cold stiff, having been dead several hours. The place was put in charge of an officer, and this morning an inautest will be held. It developed that Phillip Broderick, a nephew of Hergeney who was living in the house with the woman, had gone out yesterday afternoon locking the women up. At that time ONE-WAS DEUNK AND THE OTHER DEAD.

Broderick then went off and got drunk, and was arrested late last night in that condition. The testimony revealed the fact that the women were very intemperate, and that Mrs. Goodhue had taken scarcely any nourishment the past several days, existing entirely on beer and whisky. A post mortem examination was made. No marks of violence, internal or external, were found and the physician gave a certificate that death was from supoplexy, superincured by intemperate habits. The verdict was rendered accordingly. Broderick was released from arrest.

AN INTERVIEW IN A BARBER SHOP.

The Queen and Crescent.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A special dispatch to the Globe-Democrat from Chattanooga, Tenn., announces a move on the part of the management of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas railroad which will mark a new era in southern railreading, as the action is certain to be followed, sooner or later, by all the lines south of the Ohio. The present gauge of the "Queen and Crescent," as the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas is fancifully termed, is five feet, like most of the other southern roads. It has been apparent for many years that the inconventences of transferring freight from standard gauge roads to those having a five feet gauge has operated against the latter. The current number of the Railway Register points out this fact, and states as an illustration of its effect that the Illinois Central, the only southern standard-gauge ti rough line at of the Mississippl, shows the standard-gauge ti rough line and the street with the saver as contiguous nearly in the barber's chair; I do not know whether and Mr. Fisher was in another and the barber was there; we three were as contiguous nearly as we are now.

roundabout route via Chicago, to avoid transfers necessary by others.

The Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas has now decided to reduce its gauge to the northern standard at 4 feet 8½ inches. The work will be commenced within sixty days, and the THE Norfolk and Virginia Beach Narrow-gauge, which extends from Norfolk, Va., east to a point on the ocean beach a few miles below Cape

A Texas preacher recently made the pocket pistol the subject of a very striking lecture. The speaker said that the pistol is made for but one purpose, and that is to take human life. The huntsman has no use for it. The man who puts one into his pocket contemplates a possible difficulty and homicide. It is the instrument of nine-tenths of the slaughters that startle society, and is busy with its bloody work night and day. The remedy proposed by the Texas preacher is to make it a penal offense to carry, sell or manufacture a pistol. But reform does not end with the is once more cheerful and takes his daily airing in ago in this city Miss Chaffee, the only daughter of ex-Senator Jerome R. Chaffee. Miss Chaf-fee's mother died when she was yet a child, and she was brought up by her father's sister. She was educated at various schools, but spent most of her school life at the Parkes institute most of her school life at the Parkes institute in Brooklyn. There she was much beloved by the other pupils and was noted for her generosity. Her father visited her frequently and would leave her $50 or a $100 each time. Then, of course, "the girls" were treated to all sorts of good things, to new gloves and bonnets, and two pounds of caramels. Miss Chaffee left Parkes for Heidelberg, Germany, where she remained for some time. She speaks German fluently and is a good pianist. She passed three seasons in Washington, and although she was a great belle, yet she has never been entangled in the slightest firstation. She and Ulysses met, and after a short and sweet courtship were quietly married in this city. They have two beautiful little children, and are at present residing in West Fifty-eighth street. Mrs. U. S. Grant, Jr., is now about twenty-four, years of age. She is of medium height and fair, although not a decided blonde. Her eyes are a deep blue, shaded by long lashes, and her hair a light brown, showing golden tints. She has a fresh complexing golden tints. She has a fresh complexion. She does not care at all for society, and gives her entire attention to her husband and children. On her marriage she received her fortune of $400,000, which is all lost.

Jesse Grant, the youngest son of the general, married a few years ago to Miss Chapman, of California, daughter of a bonanza king. She is young and handsome, and was reared in the midst of every luxury. Her wedding trousseau is said to have been the most costly ever owned by any American girl. They are residing at present at 3 East Sixty-sixth street, with Genral and Mrs. Grant. Miss Chapman came into a large fortune at her marriage, but how much of it has been saved is not yet known.

Governor Cleveland at Home.

From the Washington Post. "If nominated for the presidency, Governor Cleveland will carry New York by a very large majority," remarked Congressman Rogers, of Buffalo, to a Post reporter. "He will hold much of he independent vote that swelled his majority in 1882; for the same influences will be operative in the campaign of this year that were at work in that campaign. Mr. Blaine's presiden-tial candidacy is no more acceptabse to the New York independents than was the gubernatorial andidacy of Judge Folger. In fact, the republicandidacy of Judge Forger. In act, the epocardidacy of Judge Forger. The can opposition to Blaine is more pronounced and uncompromising than was the hostility to Folger, or rather to Folger as the representative of the administration and of stalwart methods, for there was no particular objection to Folger as a page.

ministration and of stanwar methods, for there was no particular objection to Folger as a man."

"With Cleveland for our candidate," continued Mr. Rogers, "New York might safely be set down as one of the safest of democratic states. There is nothing in his record that could call for defense, apology, or even explanation. All is as clear as sanlight. His life has always been above suspicion, not only in public but in private, and he has, fortunately, escaped all such entanglements or asta shade of doubt on the most honorable man, and seriously affect his availability."

"Tell me something of the man, not of the presidential candidate," said the reporter.

"Well, then, 'the man,' Grover Cleveland, my neighbor and friend, is a gentleman of fine presence. He is large, weighing more than 200 pounds, but is compactly built. He is of light complexion, and wears a neatly trimmed mustache but no whiskers. I should judge him to be about forty years of age—possible forty-five. He is a native of New York, born, I think, in Herkimer county, but he came to Buffalo in his early life. He is a lawyer and a good one. He was sheriff of the county for a number of years and discharged the duties of that offices owell that the people thought he would make a model mayor; and they thought right, for no city ever had a better mayor than he was. His great and deserved popularity suggested the idea of nominating him for governor, and he has continued his steady, healthy growth in popular toxer."

THE MARKHAM HOUSE SUIT.

Messrs. Markham and Huff in a Fair Way to Compromise Their Suit.

The noted law suit of Markham against Huff is n a fair way to be settled to-day. The suit has been pending for nearly two years, and there has been any amount of firing and cross-firing. Colouel Huff leased the hotel in partnership with Mr. Phil Brown, and when their co-partnership exactly the partnership with Mr. Phil Brown, and when their co-partnership ceased Colonel Huff continued the lease. The hotel rent is $10,000 a year and that amount Colonel Huff paid for the first year that he had the hotel to himself. It was agreed, so he holds, that Colonel Markham, the proprietor of the building, was to keep it in repair. When Colonel Huff paid the ten thousand he asked Colonel Markham to do certain repairing around the house. Colonel Markham refused and Colonel Huff told him that unless he did the repairing he would refuse to pay the rent. Colonel Markham remarked: "Then, I'll put you out in three days time." Thereupon, the fight was started, and after various trials, is now in such shape that an auditor is about to begin taking testimony, and is expected to come here on the 2d of July for that purpose. Colonel Huff has steadily refused to pay the rent for about twenty months, and the amount now owed reaches $17,000. Negotiations were pending vesterday for a compromise. Colonel Huff was sin Macon, and Colonel Markham in Atlanta, and the correspondence was by wire.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Exchange. NEW YORK, June 19-The market opened comparatively firm for some shares and a shade higher for others. The firmness, however, did not last long, and at the first call a weaker tone prevailed, owing to a sharp decline in Vanderbilt shares, which broke 3 per cent, Lake Shore 23% and New York Central U.2. These stocks were unfavorably affected by reports that Lake Shore earnings for the June July and August.

Lird was lower, closing on the afternoon board affected by reports that Lake Shore earnings for August. the past quarter were equal to only % of I percent on the capital stock, and in consequence no divi-dend would be declared. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce.

140 By telegraph to The Constitution. IICAGO, June 19 - The reg change to-day was one of the dullest on record. .Very little was done in the wheat and corn pits, and practically nothing in pork. Scarcely any outside orders for wheat were received, and fluc tuations were not such as to tempt local traders. Fluctuations were confined to a range of 34c, and prices closed about 3/c under yesterday's latest 91 figures. On the afternoon board prices dropped off rapidly, and some activity was shown in con sequence. The latest quotations were 86% for July

Corn was very quiet. The market opened easier but became firmer because of short receipts of con-tract corn, shaded off again and closed at 561/4c for Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock | July on the regular board. On the afternoon board another decline occurred, July closing at 56c and

August at 56%c. Oats were easy but steady in comparison with the other markets. The latest prices were 32c for ber of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland, etc.

THE CASE OF MR. C—. OF NORTH CAROLINA, WHO ARRIVED AT THE SPRINGS JUNE 21 affords undoubted evidence that Buffalo Lithia Water, Spring No. 2, is a Solvent for Urinary Deposit, commonly called "Stone in the Bladder." About a year previous he was operated upon for Stone, the operation affording but partial and temporary relief. He complained of pain in the Lumbar Region, and pain and irritability of the neck of the Bladder. He was emaciated, suffering greatly from Insonnia, and his general condition very unfavorable. Upon arrival at the Springs he was passing small quantities of a Urinary Deposit of the Triple Phosphate of Aumonia and Magnesia variety. Large flakes of bloody mucus were found in the urine. For the relief of present suffering he was making frequent and free use of opiates. He was put upon the water of Spring No. 2—from six to eight glasses a day. In a few weeks the solvent properties of the water were evident in the diminished consistency of the deposit, the increased quantity discharged, and by its change from Concrete Lumps to Fine Sand, which he discharged to the amount of four onuces. The quantity, however, diminished, until after a stay of eight weeks at the Springs he has returned home with the Depost dissolved and washed out of the system, and the Diathesis, Fons et Origo Morbi, altered. There has been a disappearance of the attending distressing symptoms described and great improvement in his general condition.

THE ROSE MURDER

WHAT THE CORONER'S JURY WILL HEAR TO-DAY.

with Their Stories - A Half Dosen New Wit-1 5 nesses to Testify To-Day—The Chain of Evidence Tightening Around Rose.

To-day the coroner's jury in the Rose murder will hold their last session, and when an adjournment is had Rose will either go forth as a free man or will stand charged with one of the foulest and most brutal murders ever perpetrated in a civilized country.

Ten days ago the mysterious and horrible death of the poor woman was the one sensation, and whenever the murder was discussed a desire to see the murderer hung was expressed. The public is thoroughly acquainted with the details of the crime. It knows how ekillfully the murderer covered up his tracks and the great trouble the detectives experience in obtaining a tangible clue. It knows too of purely circumstantial and not too strong.

WHY THE DETECTIVES WORKED SLOW.

The dead hour of night, at which the murder was discovered, and the tardiness with which the intelligence was transmitted to the place were unanimous in asserting that the murder had been committed by a burglar. But later in the day Captain Bagby, who was on the grounds obtained a clue which caused him to suspect Rose. Instantly he pursued the clue and in a short while acquired enough but later in the day Captain Dagoy, and the grounds obtained a clue which caused him to suspect Rose. Instantly he pursued the clue and in a short while acquired enough circumstantial evidence to cause him to watch Rose. In the yard near the window the captain found a track made by a foot in a sock. The foot was evidently a man's foot and ne trouble was evidently a man's foot and ne trouble was experienced in tracing it through an ash pile to the lence over which the murderer had jumped. Outside the fence Captain Roses found a place where the stocking feet Roses found a place where the stocking feet manded. It is not my province to move in manded. It is not my province to move in Bagby found a place where the stocking feet ceased and where shoes took their place. A more minute examination of the ground in-duced the captain to believe that the murderer thad at that point stopped and put on his shoes.

The tracks were followed then to a point where they mingled with the foot prints made by a woman. Here the two had evidently conversed, as was shown by the frequency of the tracks in a small circle, and then separated; but neither the man nor the woman could be followed any distance from that result Canata Backy, they have a first the frequency of the tracks in a small circle.

that point. Captain Bagby then began in-quiring as to Rose's whereabouts during the early part of the previous night. He acquired positive information that before dark and that the two had an engagement for a later hour. He also learned that Rose was at Faith's bar room on Decatur street about ten o'clock and that he went from there out towards his home.
This information the captain ascertained on the day following the murder, and when Rose walked into the stationhouse that afternoon to nan. While he was awaiting his call to the witness stand he was taken in the chief's room. guilty or innocent—he manifested great coolness until Captain English informed him that he was suspected of the crime. Early the next day Chief Connelly received an "anonymous" telegram from some point on the Air Line road in which it was asserted that Rose had frequently threatened to take his wrife's life, and that they had not lived happily together. The telegram was handed to Captain Bagby, and though realising that he had a hard task he decided to ascertain from whom the message came. Saturday he let town and with a detective's instinct alone to guide him got off at a station about thrity miles away from Atlanta. There alone and uknown he began his quiet work.

He found the "telegrapher" and did not let him go until he drew all he knew from him and secured him for a witness before the jury to-day.

The jury will meet this morning at 10 o'clock and will be in secret session. Six and maybe seven new witnesses will be before the body. They are all white and are both men and women. By them it will be proven that Rose and his wife did not live happily together and that he frequently threatened to kill his wife. Captain Aldridge has been working industriously on the case. He, however, maintains that Rose is not guilty and day before yesterday informed Coroner Hilburn that he was rapidly accumulating evidence that would convince the jury of that fact and at the same time show them who the murderer was. Captain Aldridge is absent too, but will be on band this morning with his theory and a good bundle of evidence. Coroner Hilburn says to-day will close the case. He will ask the jury to render a verdict on what is known and then discharge them. Chief Connolly, who is thoroughly conversant with what the detectives have acquired, declines to talk. Coroner Hilburn imitates the chief, but to-day the facts herein stated will be given to the jury and the case disposed of.

Rose is yet in jail. He takes his detention easy and says he will come out all right. He has employed an attorney, and his friends say that, notwithstanding the array of evidence, circumstantial and direct, against him he will be able to prove an alibi and to convince everybody that the evidence is false.

THE ATLANTA CIRCUIT.

A Movement to Confine Our Superior Court to Fulton County Alone.

It has become very apparent to the bar of Atlanta and generally to the public that some measure must be at once adopted to relieve the pressure of business in our superior court. There are nearly thirteen hundred cases standing for trial at the October term of the court, not courting arisingle executions. not counting criminal causes and summary proceedings in the nature of injunctions, at-tachments, etc. The powers of the presiding the arrest of Rose, and of the whispers connecting him with crime. And it knows at the same time that the evidence against him was learner than the court to dispose of the busimess and get anywhere near the heel of the docket at any term of the court. The members of the bar are unanimously agreed that steps must be taken to "lift the pressure" and expedite the disposition of the business now ready for trial. There are numberles ideas prevalent as to the best means of afford-ing relief, but most of the plans are too in volved to bear explanation in the limits of hier the internation in the limits of headquarters worked a disadvantage to he detectives when they began their investigation. A large number of people called at the office of Mr. Beall yesterday and looked at the birds.
They were in their basket cooing softly to "Then, I will come clear."

Chief Connolly, Captain Bagby and a Constitution reporter were present when this occurred and each one observed Rose's trepidation. The conversation which had ceased was renewed by Rose who referred to the footprints in the yard. He said:

"They were made by a man in his socks."

THE NEW TELEPHONE.

Conversation Clearly Conducted Between the City and the Water-works.

Yesterday Messrs, Williamson and Sigler, the representatives of the new Pan-Electric Telephone company, connected their instruments at ends of the line from Colonel George W. Adair's ends of the line from Colonel George W. Adair's office to the water-works, four and a half miles distant. Conversations were then conducted over the line with the most perfect distinctness and to the complete satisfaction of all who tested the instruments. The office of Colonel Adair is so located as to catch the bulk of the noise of the rairroads and the instrument at the water-works was placed in the engine room where the monster machinery was pounding away at a tunudering rate. Still the voices of the talkers were distinctly neard and recog pixed, and in several instances the extraneous noises were distinctly were distinctly neard and recognized, and in several instances the extraneous noises were distinguishable. Messes, Whitamson & Sigler, who bring the very highest hadorsoment from Meanabats, are anxious to have their system and instruments thoroughny tested and invite all laterested parties to earl at Colonel A hir's office and inspectines. They claim to have the best and most useful telephone in existence, and say if they have not they want some one to tell them so. No one can fail to be deeply interested who will call upon them and test their rectly wonderful and effective instruments.

A Runaway Couple.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

THE MEXICAN PENSIONS BILL UN-

williams Declares That He Will Oppose the I Rather Than Vote for the Amendments Pro-posed-Other Members Opposed to it— A Election Case Decided - Etc. WASHINGTON, June 20 .- After the disposition of routine business, the senate proceeded to the consideration of private pension bills upor the calendar, which occupied the time unt the presentation of the unfinished busin and the Mexican pensions bill. Mr. Cullom said he hoped the senate would come to a vote on the bill to-day.

Mr. Voorhees moved to amend Mr. Ingalls' proposition submitted yesterday, by striking out the clause limiting the time within which the application for pension may be made.

Slater remarked that these pens stions always come up every four years just before presidential elections. Mr. VanWyck replied that he for anxious that that sort of coincidence should no again happen. The whole question could not be taken from under the influence of politic be taken from under the influence of politic and politicians. There had been shameful de lay in doing justice to the soldiers. While the widow of Admiral Farragut had got a pension of a couple thousand dollars a year, we had justead in the newspapers that the pilot of Farrant's fleet, the man who had done as much as any for the success of that officer and the forces, had died few days ago in a new politic forces, had died few days ago in a new politic forces.

his forces, had died a few days ago in a poo house.

Mr. Williams was opposed to all the amendments offered to the Mexican pension bill. It lingalls's amendment, or the other amendments were tacked on, he (Williams) could not support it. He would not bring financial ruin on his government in order to secure a pittance of $8 a month for his courades in arms. He of $8 a month for his comrades in arins. He had thought ten days ago that the bill would pass with a two-thirds majority. Now he doubted whether it would pass except loaded with ruinous proposing to amend the bill had professed to be its friends. God save my old comrades in arms from such friends as those. The majority of the Mexican pensioners happened to live on the wrong side of Mason and Dixon's line. He had himself been a confederate soldier, but brave men bore each other no animosity. We had all come together now to advance our common country in its career of greatness, of had all come together now to advance of common country in its career of greatness, glory to the end of time. Finally Mr. Willian implored the senators to withdraw the amenments, pass the bill, and then bring the other measures upon their merits. If the bill was defeated it would be by the republicans and not the demecrat If the republicans were trying to engraft decision of the Chicago convention on the billet them say so.

let them say so.

Mr. Voorhees's amendment to strike out the Ingalls' limitation was lost.

Ingalls' limitation was lost.

The suggestion of adjournment was made.

Mr. Cullom attempted to secure an agreement to have a vote on the bill and amend ments by 5 o'clock to-morrow, but Mr. Morga objected, saying the bill must go through on it The senate then went into executive seand when the doors were reopened adjou The senate to-day confirmed Ambrose H.
